"Who's been eating my porridge?" squeaked Baby bear. "Who's been eating my porridge?" cried Mother bear. "Burp!" said Father bear!!!!

Sandra and Simon were arguing furiously over the breakfast table. "Oh, you're stupid!" shouted Simon. "Simon!" said their father, "that's quite enough of that! Now say you're sorry." "All right," said Simon. "Sandra, I'm sorry you're stupid."

"William, why are you late for school again?"
"Sorry, Miss, but I dreamed I was playing football and the game went into extra time."!!!!

'No', she replied haughtily. 'I would not marry the best man on earth'.

'I know you wouldn't', retorted the rejected one. 'But if you live to be an old maid it will be gratifying to think that you once had the opportunity'.!!!!

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were on a safari trip in Africa and one day while walking through the jungle a huge lion sprang out of the bushes and seized Mrs. Murphy.

'Shoot', she screamed to her husband. 'Shoot!.' 'I can't!' he shouted back. 'I've run out of film!'!!!

Overheard from a man discussing T.V. sets with his neighbour. 'Mine's got four controls-my wife and 3 kids'!!!

KITTY THE COOK'S CORNER.

CHOCOLATE RUM POTS.

- INGREDIENTS: 10ozs./275gr plain chocolate
 2 1/2ozs./60gr butter
 10 egg yolks
 5 tablesp. rum
 5 egg whites.

TO DECORATE: 1/4pt/150ml whipped cream, chopped walnuts

METHOD:

1. Break up the chocolate and place in a bowl over a pan of hot water. Add the butter and heat gently until melted and smooth.
2. Remove from heat and beat in the egg yolks and rum. Beat the egg white until stiff and fold evenly through the chocolate mixture. Divide between individual dishes. Just before serving, whip cream and decorate the top.
3. Sprinkle with chopped nuts.

HOPE

Hope is the chink of light in the night,
 Amid the black a speck of white.
 Hope gives reason to the rhyme
 Of this crazy dance that we call time.
 When all the odds seem stacked against you,
 Hope comes charging to the rescue.
 Hope can help each girl and boy
 And turn a sorrow to a joy.
 So hang a picture of hope in your heart,
 For hope can make despair depart.

A.F.S.

ON THE 'ONE MAN'S PASS'.

Cast your thoughts to the kindly wind
 From atop this craggy tower
 And let the sea, the sun, the rocks
 Your very heart devour.

For here again can soul be found
 And ancient wisdom caught,
 Which holds a meaning all its own
 And not the things we're taught.

From this lofty perch the eye can see
 All things that lie below,
 But the inner eye sees deeper still,
 Untruth its deadly foe.

So take this knowledge newly gained
 To the vanguard of the mind,
 For the danger lies, as we descend,
 That this truth is left behind.

A.F.S.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Few have all they need, none all they wish.

KILCAR IN DAYS GONE BY - extract from "The Cliff Scenery of South-West Donegal" by Thomas Colin Mc Ginley.(mid 1800's)

Passing down a deep descent, we reach the village of Kilcar, nestling in a gorge at the meeting of two deep glens and where two brawling torrents unite in their hurried passage to the sea. The village of Kilcar consists of two rows of houses lining a wide, steep street. The situation is an exceedingly romantic one, surrounded as it is with an amphitheatre of steep craggy hills. The Catholic Chapel stands at the upper end of the town - that nearest to Killybegs - and is remarkable for its extreme neatness and the taste displayed in its internal arrangements. The parochial house is on the same side of the street just outside the chapel gate. It is the hospitable abode, of the Rev. Hugh O' Donnell, P.P., whose singularly successful exertions in diffusing the blessings of a sound practical education throughout his extensive parish are so well known, and so highly appreciated.

The Protestant Church is at the lower end of the town, near where the rivers of the two glens meet. The rector, Rev. E. Labatt, resides at a place called Roxboro on the eastern shore of Teelin Bay, about two miles from town. On the steep hill above and opposite the church, may be observed the remains of an old ecclesiastical structure called Cill Charthadh whence the town gets the name of kilcar. The place was, till lately, used as a burying-ground.

Kilcar is Six miles from Killybegs, has eight fairs in the year but no weekly market. It has a district dispensary and post-office. There is only one school (the Keenaghan) which is in connexion with the national board, and is largely attended. There is no petty sessions court, the business requiring such an institution being transacted at Killybegs.

FOROIGE NEWS.

CITIZENSHIP AWARD.

The members of the club were visited by Donal Purcel, Regional Youth Officer of Foroige, at their weekly meeting on 1st May. The Citizenship Award project was discussed and members spent much time putting the finishing touches to their entry. This competition is run each year and clubs which have become involved in the community in one way or another are invited to submit their project. This year, over 60 clubs have entered, of which one will eventually emerge as the winner, with two runners-up. Carrick club has entered the work done on 'An Liag' and the 'Clean - Up'.

SPORTS DAY.

The club will attend an inter-club sports day in Bruckless Community Centre. on Sunday 19th May. In order to raise funds for travel expenses for this outing and for other purposes, the members have decided to hold a cake sale after Mass in the Old School in Carrick on that Sunday. (19th May). Further notice will be given closer to the date.

QUIZ

Carrick club had a home venue for the quarter-final of the inter-club quiz, and met Downings Foroige Club in the Old School, Carrick, on Wed.8th May. Carrick emerged as winners and go forward to Convoy where the semi-finals and final will be held on Friday 31st May. The Downings team were treated to some of the members delicious home-baking after the quiz, before heading off on the long journey home. Carrick quiz team was: Breandan O'Beirn, Gregory Doherty, Andrew Heekin, Majella Doherty, Robert Maloney. Congratulations to all and good luck in Convoy.

FILMING IN GLEN.

Glen in now the Irish equivalent of Hollywood with the filming of 'The Railway Station Man.' Following the filming of 'Murder in Eden' the cameras are back in action again. The main stars in this current film are Julie Christie and Donald Sutherland. The word is that some of the locals will be seen displaying their dancing skills while others will be buying up bargains in the bazaar scene. So keep an eye out for them when the film is shown!

ARDARA INDOOR SOCCER FINALS.

Two Carrick-based teams featured in the finals of the Ardara Indoor football finals held in the Community Centre earlier this month. In the over 30's final Carrick Slashers met Kincasslagh, while in the Senior final U.T.R. met Ardara A.

In the over-30's final Kincasslagh proved too strong for the Carrick team and eventually ran out winners. Score 8 - 2.

TEAMS: CARRICK SLASHERS: Jimmy Kennedy
Rory Mc Nelis
Sean Gavigan
Gerard Mc Brearty
Charlie Mc Brearty.
Finian Ward(unavailable on night)

KINCASSLAGH: Packie Gallagher,
Kevin Keeney,
Jamsie Melly,
Liam Sweeney.

The Senior final was a repeat of last year's with UTR facing the Hugh Campbell- led Ardara A team. With John O'Donnell missing for the final, Christy Gillespie came into the side. After a tight-marking first half, UTR trailed 0-1. On the resumption, with some determined play and great finishing by Paul Murrin, and Noel Carr, UTR went on to lead 6 - 2. The final score was 8 - 3 in UTR's favour.

The Bosco Mc Gill Cup and trophies were presented afterwards at a dance in Dohertys Lounge. Special thanks must go to the many people who travelled to Ardara to support both teams.

LOST AND FOUND

As if Peggy Doogan hadn't enough dramatic events this year- what with her forthcoming nuptials and her inevitable move to the Wild Side of the Gweebarra - imagine her horror and dismay on returning to Donegal Town on Sunday 3rd March to find her car that she had parked opposite the Garda Barracks up agin' the wall- GONE !!!

At first she made a beeline to the phone to ring Dessie Cunningham and Michael Oliver Mc Intyre to ask which of these two pranksters had taken her trusty ten year old Yellow Porsche - the two were totally innocent so it dawned on Peggy that her car had actually been stolen by unknown villains. An all-scale Garda alert went out to find the missing vehicle. As the days went by and became weeks hopes were slowly fading for the recovery of same. Even the birds around the Chapel gate area ceased warbling because their regular food supply was on the back seat of Peggy's car.

A fortnight later Peggy got a phone call and a visit from the local Garda Sergeant with the glad tidings that her car had been located near Ballintra. On inspection of same, much to everybodys relief, the only damage was a missing petrol cap and a missing supply of birdseed. The community needless to say are all delighted for Peggy and hope that no other thefts or misfortunes befall her until she is safely over the Gweebarra.

B: How many are in your family?
 M: There are 7 children in my family - 5 boys and 2 girls.
 B: Where did you receive your third level education?
 M: I studied in U.C.D. and did a degree in Social Science.
 B: Did you have a job before you became a T.D?
 M: Social worker with Strathclyde Council, Glasgow.
 B: What were your first thoughts on becoming a T.D. especially at such a young age?
 M: It was a very exciting time for me to be the youngest Member entering Dail Eireann in 1987. But it was tinged with sadness as, after all, the last time I was in the Dail was with my late father.
 B: What were your first thoughts on entering Dail Eireann?
 M: I was very proud to be elected and to represent Donegal South West but naturally I was still apprehensive and nervous like anyone entering a new job or position.
 B: Do you find it hard to please all the people all the time?
 M: Pleasing the general public is the most difficult thing anyone has to do and it can never be done to everyone's satisfaction. My motto is, to do your best for everyone and hope it will accomplish what you have set out to do.
 B: Would you ever like to leave politics and enter another career?
 M: At this stage in my career I would have no intention of leaving politics for another career! Dail Eireann does have it's bright sides for you! Especially the security! Would you like to enlighten us!
 M: I enjoy the comradeship and challenge of Dail Eireann Yes, I did meet my fiancée in Dail Eireann which is a most unusual place to meet the person you will marry. But then the general rule is you meet the person you marry more often than not at your place of work.

FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is the inexpressible comfort of feeling safe with a person having neither to weigh thoughts nor measure words.

(George Eliot)

Walking with someone, rather than merely showing them the way, is the true essence of friendship.

If I can live on the roadside of life and be a friend to all who pass by, I will be a stranger to no-one.

JOKES.....JOKES.....JOKES.....

How do you stop a cold going to your chest? Tie a knot in your neck!!!!

Is it difficult to bury a dead elephant? Yes, it's a huge undertaking!!!!

Why do elephants wear sandals? To stop their feet sinking in the sand!!!!
 Why do ostriches bury their heads in the sand? To see all the elephants who weren't wearing their sandals!!!!

Why are you covered in bruises? I started to walk through a revolving door and then I changed my mind!!!!

B: When you first saw David Charlton, your fiancee what did you think of him?
M: As regards what my first thoughts were when I first met David - I don't really remember the nitty gritty details but I admired him for his courage for asking me out on a date. - He is handsome after all!!
B: When are you getting married?
M: We are getting married in August 1991.
B: If you had to stay on a deserted island who would you take for company - other than David!
M: Mel Gibson.
B: Who is your hero?
M: Superman!
B: Have you a phobia?
M: Elections! Seriously, I hate mice and spiders.
B: Describe An Taoiseach in less than 17 words.
M: He is one shrewd politician. Small in stature but makes up for it in ability.
B: Who is your favourite minister?
M: Albert Reynolds.
B: Are you a feminist?
M: I wouldn't say I'm an outspoken feminist but I am definitely an advocate of equality and a woman's perspective on decision making and the decision-making process.
B: What is your favourite Newspaper, T.V. programme, Singer, Holiday spot?
M: The Irish Independent, Head to Toe, Van Morrison, Anywhere away from a telephone!
B: Have you any hobbies?
M: Yes, I enjoy swimming and horse-riding.
B: What would you like to do, more than anything else?
M: To win the Lotto!
B: If you had one wish, what would that be?
M: Relax properly!
B: What do you think of the televising of the Dail?
M: It has created a challenge to all members, not only in our dress but mannerisms and quality of speeches. I think it will make the job as a T.D. more realistic and alive for people in the constituency when they can keep informed on legislation and see what actually happens in the Oireachtas. The only reservation I have is that you are never guaranteed a minute's slot on T.V., despite the fact you may speak on several occasions in the Chamber.

(contd. from previous page)
B: Would you like to be Ireland's first Maggie Thatcher?
M: I don't really look like her - I hope that is not being insinuated. !! If you asked me would I like to be Taoiseach - that would probably not be a probability but at the same time I would accept the challenge if I was chosen. Leadership of Fianna Fail and the position of Taoiseach is something you do not aspire towards, it's an honour bestowed upon you.
B: Will the Foreign Adoption Bill 1991 secure citizenship and equal rights for Romanian babies adopted in this country?
M: Yes - the aim of this bill is to provide equal status for foreign adoptions, similar to our own adoptions in this country. It is a very complicated bill as many babies now in this country have been adopted by people who are not included in our own Adoption Act i.e. single parents and children of married couples - our own Act has to be amended to include these parents. One also has to be sure that Romanian parents know the implications of having their children adopted and we as legislators must ensure that the rights of the child are paramount.
B: Who is the most attractive man in the Dail?
M: Politics aside - Dick Spring.
B: Thank you Mary, for speaking to us.
