SMA FATHERS

The Society of African Missions (SMA Fathers) was founded in France in 1856 and when it was established in Ireland in 1878 it was the first exclusively missionary congregation to send out missionaries from Ireland. The main mission of the SMA is in Africa where members work in 17 countries. Today, there are about 800 members and about 300 seminarians preparing to be missionaries. The SMA asks for the support of prayers for the success of its missionary works. Our greatest need is funds to educate our seminarians and to continue the work of our priests among some of the poorest people on earth. An SMA priest will visit the parish on Saturday 30th June and Sunday 1st July in Carrick and Meenaneary churches.

MARK 5:21-43

Both the woman with the haemorrhage and the daughter of Jairus were beyond the help of any earthly power. The great faith of the woman and of Jairus is stressed. Both believed that Jesus possessed a supernatural power to heal. Both miracles are signs of God's power, restoring life and health through Jesus. The raising of the little girl is a foreshadowing of Jesus gift of eternal life to all who believe in him.

In the encounter we see the sensitivity and courtesy of Jesus. A woman with a haemorrhage would have been ritually unclean. She had no business in the crowd, and, by touching Jesus, she rendered him ritually unclean too, or so others would have reckoned. Jesus did not scold her for her 'reprehensible' conduct. Instead, he commended her faith. And spoke lovely words to her: 'My daughter, your faith has restored you to health; go in peace and be free of your complaint.'

It was not enough just to touch him. Others touched him. She touched him with faith. Faith enabled this poor, frightened, sick, untouchable woman to recognise Jesus' power, and she awakened that power with a touch. Jairus the leader of the synagogue, came to Jesus begging for a cure for his twelve-year-old daughter. Even though she was still alive, like the woman with the haemorrhage, she was clearly beyond the help of any earthly power. The man's request showed that he believed that Jesus possessed a supernatural power, the power to heal. Jesus immediately set out for the house of Jairus. But while they were on their way the news came that the girl had died. The messengers suggested that there was no point in troubling Jesus further. In effect they were saying that even the power of Jesus could not prevail over death. We see the same attitude of hopelessness expressed in the weeping of the mourners.

But Jesus ignored the words of the messengers. And he rebuked and finally expelled the mourners. His serene hope contrasted sharply with the despair of those around him. He urged Jairus to have faith, faith that even in death his little child was not out of reach of his power. 'Don't be afraid; only believe.'

Jesus went into the child's room with her parents and the three disciples. Then taking her by the hand he said, 'Little girl, I say to you arise.' And immediately the little girl got up and began to walk about. Jesus told them to give her something to eat. There is such gentleness and tenderness in the scene. Jesus showed such love for the little girl and for her" parents.
